Structure of the Qualification

Level 3

Group A (Mandatory)

- Roles, responsibilities and relationships in education and training (3 credits)

Group B

- Understanding and using inclusive learning and teaching approaches in education and training (6 credits)
- Facilitating learning and development for individuals (6 credit Learning and Development Unit)
- Facilitating learning and development in groups (6 credit Learning and Development Unit).

Group C

- Understanding assessment in education and training (3 credits)
- Understanding the principles and practices of assessment (3 credit Learning and Development Unit).

Assessment

The course is assessed through the completion of a learner portfolio, the portfolio may/will comprise of:

- Written assignments/tasks
- Produced session plan(s)
- Produced training materials and activities
- Teacher feedback
- Peer feedback
- Self evaluation.

Plus any other forms of evidence that meets the required learning outcomes and assessment criteria of the award.

LO 1

Understand the teaching role and responsibilities in education and training

10

NEXT

Session aim and learning outcomes

Aim

To introduce and discuss the teaching role and responsibilities in education and training

Learning outcomes

Upon completion of the session learners will be able to:

- 1.1 Explain the teaching role and responsibilities in education and training
- 1.2 Summarise key aspects of legislation, regulatory requirements and codes of practice relating to own role and responsibilities
- 1.3 Explain ways to promote equality and value diversity
- 1.4 Explain why it is important to identify and meet individual learning needs.

11

NEXT

Teaching role and responsibilities

AC 1.1

The teaching role may include:

- Imparting knowledge and experience
- Developing practical skills
- Inspiring and assisting learners to achieve their personal learning goals.

Responsibilities will/may include:

- Taking responsibility for the health, safety and welfare of learners
- Providing a safe learning environment (moral and physical welfare)
- Adhering to current professional Standards
- Acting as a role model to learners
- Ensuring that you remain technically competent within your specialist area.

NEXT

What is the teaching cycle?

14

The teaching cycle

15

NEXT

1 Initial assessment

Conducting an initial assessment serves 2 purposes, it:

- Allows the teacher to gather information
- Gives a starting point to plan the course

The initial assessment allows the teacher to obtain information about the prospective learner such as:

- Previously attended courses
- Depth of knowledge
- Experiences
- Perceptions
- Level of ability
- Specific requirements.

NEXT

Key task 2

Complete key task 2

NEXT

2 Planning and designing

Prior to writing anything down on paper, or indeed planning anything at all, you need to decide two things – the aim and the learning outcomes.

Aim – General statement of intent

Learning Outcome(s) – what the learner is expected to know on completion of the course

KEY POINT

Without deciding the aim and learning outcomes, the course will be inadequately planned and result in learners not receiving the standard of teaching required.

NEXT

The learning environment

The learning environment is an important part of ensuring a successful session. Further areas that need to be considered are listed below:

- Is there suitable access for all learners?
- Are there suitable and sufficient chairs and tables?
- Will all learners' views be unobstructed?
- Are there sufficient electrical sockets for the equipment to be used
- Are there clean, suitable and sufficient toilet facilities?
- Are there adequate refreshment facilities?

19

NEXT

Seating arrangements

There are different seating arrangements available to the teacher each with positive and negative points. Examples of these are as follows:

THEATRE STYLE

TRADITIONAL / EXAMINATION

VEGAS GROUPING

U - SHAPE

CHEVRON

PRACTICAL DEMO

CLOSED CIRCLE

OPEN CIRCLE

BOARDROOM

20

NEXT

Further considerations

Decide on the resources to be used

How is inclusion to be catered for? i.e. meeting the learning needs of all your learners

How can opportunities be provided for learners to develop their English, mathematics, ICT and wider skills?

What assessment and methods of assessment are going to be incorporated?

21

NEXT

3 Delivery

- When delivering the session, it is imperative that you establish and maintain a rapport with the learners
- The pace and pitch will need to be considered
- Catering for inclusion is very important.

22

NEXT

Icebreakers

An icebreaker is a short task or activity that is designed to assist in:

- Creating a positive atmosphere
- Breaking down social barriers
- Giving learners an insight into each other
- Easing learners into the learning frame of mind
- Giving the teacher an insight into the direction that the course or session may take.

23

NEXT

Energisers

Energisers are similar to icebreaker although they are used in a slightly different context:

They are used to energise and motivate

Usually short tasks or activities that cater for maximum inclusion

Incorporated when the group shows signs of tiredness/boredom

Commonly employed after lunch (graveyard shift).

24

NEXT

Group composition and work

A good way to promote inclusion, recognise different learning styles and motivate learners is to incorporate a certain amount of group work into the session

This allows learners to share their life experiences and knowledge

The majority of people like to be part of a group and take an active part in it

25

NEXT

Personalities within the group

When groups are formed it is important to monitor and control the way in which the group is working together, things to be aware of:

- Emergence of a natural group leader
- Learners who do not feel confident or competent
- Formative assessment or modular assessment must be conducted throughout
- Summative assessment.

26

NEXT

4 The recorded evaluation

Evaluation should be conducted by both the learner(s) and the teacher; the evaluation should cover the following areas:

- administration, before and during the course/session
- the learning environment
- delivery assessments and suitability
- assessment methods
- tutor feedback
- the effectiveness of the teacher
- meeting of aims and learning outcomes
- meeting learner's needs.

27

NEXT

Continuous assessment, constructive feedback and accurate recording

Effective assessment must be conducted at each and every stage of the teaching cycle

Constructive feedback is vital to the learning process

Records must be accurate and taken throughout the whole course/session.

28

NEXT

Legislation, regulatory requirements and codes of practice

AC 1.2

Legislative requirements, regulatory requirements and codes of practice must be complied with by both learners and teachers

They help to ensure that an environment conducive to learning is provided.

They assist in reinforcing learners' basic rights.

29

NEXT

Legislation

There is legislation which applies to both public and private educational establishments, some of the acts that require compliance are as follows:

- The Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974
- The Equality Act 2010
- The Data Protection Act 2018
- The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) 2016
- The Freedom of Information Act 2000.

30

NEXT

Regulatory requirements

Awarding organisations (AOs) must continually meet requirements of the regulators;

Qualifications delivered must adhere to AOs guidance.

31

NEXT

Codes of Practice

There are in essence two types of codes of practice, which are as follows:

- 1 Approved Codes of Practice
- 2 Best practice.

33

NEXT

What is equality? AC 1.3

34

NEXT

Promoting equality

Promoting equality

Responsibility:

- Teachers have a responsibility to openly promote equality and diversity within the classroom in relation to both learners and staff.

How:

- Teachers can assist with this by ensuring that they, and the staff and learners within their area of responsibility, support a commitment to equality of opportunity and diversity.

35

NEXT

Equality can be promoted by:

- adhering to legislation and codes of practice
- implementing the organisation's equality policy
- regularly consulting with people within your area of responsibility
- making use of specialist expertise in the area of equality
- monitoring and reviewing the company's equality policy
- openly promoting anti-discriminatory practices
- using appropriate communication styles
- demonstrating integrity, fairness and consistency in decision-making.

36

NEXT

What is diversity?

Diversity is about recognising that people come from different countries, have different cultures and social backgrounds and have different values

- Diversity needs to be embraced
- Diversity has to be taken into consideration when planning a course
- Teachers are responsible for openly promoting and catering for diversity

Individual Learning Needs (ILN)

AC 1.4

All learners will have social needs (acceptance, belonging, appreciation and companionship) and intrinsic needs (personal needs, wants and desires).

We all have social needs:

- to take an active part in a group
- to compete with others

We also have intrinsic needs:

- the desire to carry out a task well
- the wish to progress
- the need to satisfy curiosity.

Navigation icons at the bottom include a back arrow, a home icon, a forward arrow, and a 'NEXT' button.

Meeting individual learning needs

- People's needs (through initial assessment)
- Motivational factors
- Style of delivery (resources, group work and assessment methods (meeting learning styles))
- Subject knowledge
- Session plans.

Session aims and learning outcomes

Aim

To introduce and discuss ways to maintain a safe and supportive learning environment.

Learning outcomes

Upon completion of the session learners will be able to:

- 2.1 Explain ways to maintain a safe and supportive learning environment
- 2.2 Explain why it is important to promote appropriate behaviour and respect for others.

44

NEXT

Maintaining a safe and supportive learning environment

AC 2.1

- State the ground rules (boundaries) and acceptable standards of behaviour at the beginning of the session
- Ensure that the classroom is safe
- Challenge unacceptable behaviour
- Have policies available

45

NEXT

Maintaining a safe and supportive learning environment

- Adopt a positive attitude
- Instil and maintain motivation
- Adopt inclusive teaching and learning practices
- Use effective verbal and non-verbal communication
- Have sufficient resources available
- Give learners ownership
- Value contributions
- Set realistic and achievable objectives (SMART)
- Have referral procedures in place.

46

NEXT

Promoting appropriate behaviour and respect for others

AC 2.2

As part of the wider teaching role, teachers can assist the learning process by creating a positive learning environment, this can be achieved by:

- Adhering to professional standards
- Mutually agreeing ground rules regarding behaviour and respect for others
- Creating a positive learning environment so learners are enthused about learning
- Being honest, reliable and trustworthy.

All of the above encourage learners to achieve their potential.

- 3.2 Explain the boundaries between the teaching role and other professional roles
- 3.3 Describe points of referral to meet the individual needs of learners.

49

NEXT

How the teaching role involves working with other professionals

AC 3.1

The teaching role will naturally involve working with other professionals. It is therefore important that professional relationships are established and maintained. This can be achieved by:

- Attending departmental meetings
- Attending standardisation meetings
- Meeting with line managers
- Meeting specialist teachers
- Meeting Internal Quality assurance personnel
- Collaborating with agencies and other organisations.

Learning styles

Visual	Auditory	Kinaesthetic

58

NEXT

Visual

A visual learning style is when students prefer to learn visually

Their learning experience is enhanced by reading books and looking at pictures, diagrams and handouts, and also by watching films or DVD clips

These learners are better at completing a task once they have read the instructions first

59

NEXT

Auditory

- People who have an auditory learning style prefer to learn through listening to the spoken or recorded word.
- They have a tendency to perform a task better after listening to instructions
- They also tend to be the people who remember the words to songs and the words to spoken lyrics.

60

NEXT

Kinaesthetic

- People who have a kinaesthetic learning style prefer to learn through a physical experience
- A physical learning experience would equate to touching, feeling and doing, i.e. undergoing practical hands-on work.
- As individuals they tend to jump right in and prefer not to read instructions and would much prefer to try things out for themselves.

- Encourage self-reflection
- Using understandable language
- Using intrinsic and extrinsic motivators
- Delivering the course in a positive and professional manner.

82

NEXT

Why do we have ground rules?

83

NEXT

Establishing ground rules with learners

AC 2.4

- Mutually agreed (between teacher and learner)
- Established as close to the start of the session as possible
- They are a contractual agreement
- Encourage learners to add their own

Examples of ground rules may include:

- All mobile phones must be switched to silent
- Question etiquette
- Smoking
- Health and Safety
- Fire
- Promoting anti-discriminatory practices.

84

- 1.4 Explain how different assessment methods can be adapted to meet individual learner needs.

106

NEXT

Purpose and types of assessment

LO 1.1

There are three main types of assessment strategies that you can use, these are:

- 1 Initial assessment
- 2 Formative assessment
- 3 Summative assessment

107

NEXT

1 Initial assessment

- From the course application form
- Telephone call
- Interview
- Skills test
- Psychometric testing
- Accredited prior learning (APL)
- Recognised prior learning (RPL)
- Individual consultation
- Skype call
- Speaking to learners prior to the start of the course.

108

NEXT

2 Formative assessment

This is ongoing throughout the programme and conducted through means such as:

- Question and answers
- Quizzes
- Group work
- Observation
- Demonstrating an observed skill
- Written examination
- Reflective practice
- Assignments.

109

NEXT

3 Summative assessment

Conducted through methods such as:

- Oral assessment
- Observation
- Completing a practical task.

And also written assessment by means of:

- Examination
- Multiple-choice tests
- Assignments.

110

NEXT

Characteristics of different methods of assessment

AC 1.2

- Should be designed for the ability and level of the learner
- Designed to meet formal or informal requirements
- Should be compiled to meet the requirements of what is being delivered
- May be stipulated by an awarding organisation or certifying body.

111

NEXT

Strengths and limitations in relation to individual learners

AC 1.3

The specific assessment method chosen or required will have strengths and limitations.

Some considerations are:

- Is it assessing performance-based criteria?
- Is it assessing knowledge-based criteria?
- Are there limitations in place (no simulation for example)?
- Are there time constraints?
- Will other people need to be involved in the assessment process such as members of staff or other learners?
- Are there specified assessment criteria to adhere to (set by an awarding organisation for example)?

112

NEXT

Adapting assessment methods to meet learners' needs

AC 1.4

There may be a requirement to adapt assessment methods for the following reasons:

- The learner is not engaged
- The assessment method is not meeting the learner's learning style
- Answers obtained are incorrect
- The selected assessment method is taking too long.
